Poet in Residence

Workshop – Communication and poetry writing with people with memory loss

Ely Library
15th October 2009
10am – 12pm

A free opportunity for care staff, activity organisers, occupational therapists, relatives, creative writers and library staff.

This workshop will concentrate on one-to-one communication but will also include a brief group poetry writing exercise.

John Killick will illustrate the befriending and listening processes involved. He will cover the skills involved in writing, editing and sharing the words of individuals with the condition. He will also stress the nature of confidentiality.

The workshop will be interactive and involve the examination of sound recordings and texts.
